

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS

The Washington Academy Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual induction ceremony recently at the East Machias Congregational Church. The program began with a piano interlude by Jacob Sturtevant, music teacher. Hannah Hudson, president of the chapter, opened the ceremony.

Two-year members reviewed the four society qualities. Seniors Will Guida, Carrie Johnson, Cassie Craven, and Avram Reisman addressed the qualities of scholarship, service, leadership and character.

Colin Martinez, JuWeon Kyung, and Milos Gautier introduced new members and their parents. The following are new members: Seniors: Jee Sun Kim, Ahrom Kim, Ashley Noyes, Brittany Bigger, Juniors: Nadine Biss, Sarah Castor, Alice McBride, Molly Pierce, Gabrielle Roos, Angie Sexton, Sophomores: Robert Costa, Lacie Craven, Seth Maker, and Allison Talbot.

After a candlelight ceremony with a recitation of the National Honor Society pledge, Headmaster Judson McBrine presented emblems and pins.

Tony Maker, Principal of Elm Street School, was the guest speaker. The Washington Academy Combined Chorus, under the direction of the academy's music instructor, Jacob Sturtevant, presented "I Hope You Dance" by Mark D. Sanders and Tia Sillers.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served with Mr. and Mrs. David Craven, parents of Cassie and Lacie Craven. Virginia Plummer, English Chair at Washington Academy, is the NHS advisor.
